

To whom it may concern. I realize people and company's have the right to freedom of speech. And I have the right to tune them out, which is what I have done by getting on the Indiana Telephone Privacy act. If you diminish this act then you have taken away my rights. I do not wish to receive calls from telemarketers. Before I got on the privacy act, my wife and I would receive anywhere from 2 to 10 calls a night that would range from 5:00 pm to 10:00 pm a night. I try not to be a rude person when someone calls, but the calls were so often that as soon as they would start to talk I would hang up without saying a thing to them. Please don't take away this privacy act as it has given my wife and I the peace and quiet we want and enjoy. Sincerly, Carl Robinson
